

Merchants

Article about merchants and trade.

2 Merchants

Goods

The following is a simple list of goods which may be bought and sold, together with where they are obtained from, and what they are used for.

Metals

Iron: Iron is a requirement of advanced weapons and armour, so sources of good quality iron are important. Much iron is bog iron. Where mountain streams run through peat bogs, bog iron can almost always be found as iron nodules. Red earth, which is a powdery ochre, is a source of iron ore. This must be smelted to obtain iron, which is a difficult process. Open cast mining.

Lead:

Silver: Found with lead.

Tin: